Pseudonym: _____

I, the author of the work presented under the above pseudonym, state that the name and address in the sealed envelope are correct. I also state that the work presented is all my own work, and has not been rewarded at a previous National Eisteddfod, or partly or wholly published in any form. I will not present the work to a publisher until the adjudication has been published.

As owner of the copyright of this work, I also, through the completion of this entry form, give the permission to the Eisteddfod to publish the work for the first time during the week of the Eisteddfod, or within three months of the final day of the Eisteddfod, without accepting any royalties or other payment, and without consultation. I also recognise the future rights of the National Eisteddfod in relation to the work, in line with the Eisteddfod's General Rules and Conditions, and in particular Rule number 4.

I commit to comply with the Special Conditions and the General Rules and Conditions.

Registration Notes:

Each competition is held in line with the Special Conditions and the General Rules and Conditions.

A separate form must be used for each competition.

Presenting Compositions

Number of Copies

Entrants for the Chair, Crown, Prose Medal and the Daniel Owen Memorial Prize must send 3 hard copies of the work to the Organiser, together with a CD or USB stick of the work.

How to present the work

All compositions and the correct fee should be sent to the Organiser by 1 April. There are some exceptions to this rule:

- Daniel Owen Memorial Prize (1 December)
- Prose Medal (1 December)

The competition number and title and the competitor's pseudonym must be noted on every composition.

Every competitor must send a sealed envelope, which includes the following information inside:

- Competition number and title
- Competitor's pseudonym
- Full name
- Telephone number
- Email and postal address
- Name of publisher (if relevant)

Nothing else should be included in the envelope.

The following information must be included on the front of the envelope:

- Competition number and title
- Competitor's pseudonym

Language

The compositions and the competing must be in Welsh, unless noted in any individual competition.

Over-use of English must be avoided in excerpts and in own choice competitions.

No compositions with any libellous material or references will be accepted.
